International Court of Justice Manual

Introduction

The International Court of Justice (ICJ) is the principal judicial tribunal of the United Nations. An informal alternative name of ICJ is World Court. Its function is to consider and resolve disputes between states, that have brought the case to the court, in accordance with international law. Also, the ICJ may be called by U.N. organs or agencies to give an Advisory Opinion on legal matters. Lastly, the official language of this Model ICJ is English.

Basic Terminology and Points of Law

Memorandum

Before the conference each couple of advocates has to write and present a Memorandum to the members of the court and to the opposing advocate team. The memorandum contains general information about the case, party's view on the case, facts, points of law and at the end the judgment requested (prayer).

Stipulations

Before the conference, both teams of advocate have to discuss and agree on common grounds and facts of the case. These agreements are called stipulations and they can't be changed from the moment that they have been presented to the members of the Court.

Evidence

Evidence can be divided into two categories, the real evidence and the testimony. Real evidence is any material object, e.g. documents, articles and conventions. Testimony is the statements made by a witness who is under oath.

Burden of Proof

The Burden of Proof is based on the generally accepted principle of actori incumbit probatio, which means that the claimant has to prove his claim. This means that the Applicant part has to persuade a simple majority (51%) of the judges. If at the end of the case the Applicant party has met the burden, it wins automatically.

The Roles in the Court

Presidency

The President and the Deputy President are elected every three years. The President presides at all meetings of the Court and he/she is responsible to organize the whole procedure of the trial. During judicial deliberations, the President has a second vote in the event of votes being equally divided. The Deputy President replaces the President in his/her absence.

The Registry

The Registry is the permanent administrative organ of the Court. Head of this administrative organ is the Registrar who is not responsible only for helping in the administration of justice — with sovereign states as litigants — and acting as an international secretariat. Its activities are both judicial and diplomatic, as well as administrative.

Advocates

In this Model ICJ we have four advocates, two for each party. The advocates are paid independent lawyers and they try to support their client. We have the Applicant/moving Party which is composed of two advocates, it is the party that brought the case before the Court and it has the ultimate burden of proof. There is also the Respondent Party, which is the accused and it is also composed of two members.

Judges

The judges are independent lawyers just like the advocates but their role is very different. The Judges «obey» the International Law, whatever the outcome and their country's policy. In ICJ there is no jury, which is responsible to determine all issues or questions of fact, and so all judges are responsible to have the role of the jury. During the conference Judges must remain as objective as possible and they must never pre-judge until the final deliberation.

The Procedure of the case

Before the conference

Before the conference the advocates must submit the following documents:

- 1) Memorandum by each party
- 2) Evidence by each party
- 3) Witness list by each party
- 4) Stipulations by both parties

The only thing judges are required to do, is to read the submitted documents. They are not allowed to make their own research so as to avoid any bias and because it is extremely important to have their own, original opinion on the case.

Explanation of the procedure

Opening Statements

During the opening statements advocates will briefly introduce the case and present to judges their point of view. They will present all the important parts of their memorandum, which means they will refer to the historical background, their policy and the judgment requested (prayer)

Presentation of Evidence

During the presentation of evidence, advocates will submit only real pieces of evidence to support their case. Each opposing party can object on specific grounds during the presentation of evidence (check objections part)

Witnesses

Advocates will try to fill all the aspects of the case by witnesses' examination. There are both direct and cross examination to every witness by each party. Each opposing party can object on specific grounds during witnesses' examination (check objections part)

Direct Examination: The party who called the witness is doing the direct examination. During the direct examination the advocates cannot make a leading question unless the witness is qualified as an expert.

Cross Examination: The opposing party and the judges are doing the cross examination. During the cross examination all members are encouraged to make leading question, in order to discover the truth. During cross examination, the questions may only be relevant to something that the witness referred to, in his previous answers. Thus, in cross examination all questions might be relevant to direct examination.

Examination of Evidence

This is a very difficult part of the case because the judges are called to decide which pieces of evidence were actually important to the case and are going to be proven beneficial when reaching the verdict. During the deliberation of the evidence, each judge is responsible to investigate the source, author, date and the content of the evidence he/she was assigned. It also has to be checked on the grounds of relevance, reliability and authenticity. After the independent examination, the judge has to briefly analyze his/her piece of evidence and refer to all the important parts that were discovered during the examination. Lastly, all judges after discussion will need to decide upon the evidence's importance and to how much consideration the court is going to take it under.

Closing Statements

During the closing statements advocates will point out and explain some facts of the whole trial. Also, they will try to solve any query and misunderstanding that judges might still have.

Objections

During the presentation of evidence

The Advocates can object on the grounds of:

- authenticity, e.x We are not sure if this is the whole article
- reliability, e.x This document is from an unknown author
- relevance, e.x It is not relevant to our case

During the testimony of the witnesses

The Advocates can object on the grounds of:

- Hearsay, when the witness says something that someone else said
- Leading Question, when the advocate tries to lead the answer of the witness during the direct examination
- Relevance, when someone during the Cross Examination asks the witness something that it has not brought up by the advocates during the Direct Examination.

General tips

The statements of the advocates are NOT pieces of evidence. As paid lawyers, they will try to persuade you in order to make their client happy.

Each evidence (real or testimony) is not law unless the judges evaluate it and vote it as countable. The applicant party should solve any confusion that the respondent party will create.
