

THE.TRUTH.EXPOSITIONARY

CGSMUN 20TH ANNIVRSARY SPECIAL EDITION

EXTRA!!

EXTRA!!

, one of the words we'd use to describe some of you peoples' fashion choices

Image 1: Opening ceremony

“BURN DOWN THE CONFERENCE”, says Security Council Presidency in a shocking turn of events. Officials are worried for the future of the conference after a total of 20 years runtime. Will they crumble under the weight? Page #¢$€•%

Image 2: Taken by our brave volunteers who stayed in the school overnight

ALIENS SPOTTED ABOVE THE CGS PREMISES ?

Is the Secreteriat actually an alien hivemind sent by the opps to take over the conference?

☯✂♠ ☐☐◆
☐♣☉●●☐ ◆☉◆♣
☐☐◆☐ ◆✂○♣
◆☐☉◆●☉◆✂◆♣
◆✂♣♠◆✂♣◆✂
♣♣◆ ☉ ●✂♣♣ ♠◆♠♣

*Is OT Member Fragkos
just a big ol' hater?
Read all about the his targetted attack against beloved Press Members.*

See what our we heard from the bugs we planted around the conference....

*“Make food great again”
-Ariadne Moutsouri, HRC*

*“America is sandwich bread”
-Kalliopi Varelli, OT*

*“Death penalty is not an acceptable form of punishment in the EC”
-Dioni-Elvira Kalpaka*

*“Food is good”
-Dimitris Harghitt, Secreteriat*

*“It’s market research.”
-Nick Trimandylis, Head of Press, when asked about his incessant reel spamming*

song of the day:
Sti Pira - Anna Visi

vote for the next one

TOP SECRET INFORMATION

PRE-BRIEF OBSERVATION FORM - 455673

Anomalous Diplomatic Entity Watch Unit (ADEWU)

FOR PRESS EYES ONLY

Item-Designation:

PB-000-001

Threat Classification:

Low

Moderate

Concerning

Extremely Concerning

I'm not paid enough for this

Project Brief Leader:

Name: You should know it by now

Clearance Level: 5

Caffeine Level: ____ (mg) (Dangerously Low)(Regrettable)

Known Information About Subject(s) (VERIFIED):

They all insist on wearing ugly suits, or generally western business attire.

Full of themselves.

Primarily communicate using the English language,

individuals with a higher societal position seem to enforce consequences otherwise.

Seem to use weird code words and phrases when communicating

(eg. point of follow up? Motion to inform??).

(flag for potential hivemind situation)

Their criteria for ordering social hierarchy is seemingly nonsensical.

(See DB-023-897, codename the Marios Project).

Reported Abilities (UNVERIFIED):

X-ray vision

Electromagnetic disruption

Rapid movement

Unknown; eyewitness too busy regretting their life choices

Notes: Approach with caution.

OPINION: THE REALITY BEHIND CGSMUN

At first glance, CGS MUN appears to be a well-balanced democracy. Tasks are divided, committees are staffed, and decisions seem to be made collectively.

However, closer inspection reveals a disturbing pattern.

Every major decision—conference dates, committee topics, coffee breaks, even the mysterious disappearance of extension cords—can somehow be traced back to one name: Dimitris Fragkos.

Coincidence?

We think not.

Sources claim that even when he is not physically present, his influence lingers in the air, subtly guiding motions, amendments, and occasionally the Wi-Fi connection.

Crisis committees erupt into chaos. Delegates panic. Chairs scramble.

And yet, somehow, everything works out.

Press investigations suggest that Mr. Fragkos possesses an uncanny ability to predict crises before they happen. Some say he writes them himself. Others believe he merely allows them to occur.

One anonymous delegate stated:

“I voted against the directive... but I felt like Dimitris wanted me to.” Experts call this phenomenon Fragkosian Strategic Control. Despite overwhelming evidence of absolute power, Mr. Fragkos remains calm, composed, and suspiciously helpful:

He answers questions.

He solves problems.

He smiles—knowing full well that CGS MUN could not function without him.

Is he a tyrant? Perchance.

Or maybe a benevolent overlord ensuring order in a world of chaos, last-minute position papers, and missed deadlines?

The Press may never know.

But one truth is undeniable:

CGS MUN does not run on debate alone.

It runs on Dimitris Fragkos.

But what is actually happening in CGSMUN committees?

GA1:

This year, the General Assembly, First of its name, is discussing issues of international security, much like it always does. The delegates are faced with a highly difficult task, and realising it with grace: Discussing Big Data collection as a means of counter terrorism, addressing the dangers of private military companies, and preventing military interventions in trade wars. These are the kind of conversations that help all of us sleep soundly, without fear of bombs, sirens, or Alexa (“Big Sister”) informing the government about our snoring patterns.

GA3:

GA3 is about state censorship. The CGSMUN Press Team would like to jump at this opportunity to remind you: The state has never made a single mistake. If the state had ever made a mistake, we’d be the first to inform, as we are a prime example of the freedom of the press. Much like the state, the CGSMUN Organising Team has also never made a single mistake. Ever. Thank you for noticing this message for the CGSMUN Press Team. Other than state censorship, GA3 is also discussing cultural clashes as a result of mass migration and repatriation of historical artifacts. However, we have no prepared message for these topics.

GA2:

Money makes the world go round. GA2 makes money go round. Therefore, GA2 makes the world go round and round, rounder still, until it becomes round enough to pass as a penny. Or a dollar, which GA2 is deliberating giving to Palestine. Meanwhile, they made the realisation that the UN Sustainable Goals are more behind schedule than HRC, and tried supporting them by giving a dollar. It would seem that the biggest challenge they had to face was discussing Digital Markets, since the cyber-world does not allow you to touch or see the dollar, and instead asks of you to imagine it and imagine giving it away. This was deemed offensive to delegates with aphantasia, and the cyber-world was cancelled on Twitter shortly after.

V

GA4:

GA4 is facing a highly difficult task: “Ambazonia?”. The question of Ambazonia is an interesting one, because, let’s be honest, how often in your life do you get to witness the potential birth of a nation? Ambazonia in particular has made a blazing entrance to the world of global politics, proudly representing the seagull community with its flag and teasing geographiles with a new and exciting topic of small talk. Other than Ambazonia, GA4 is assessing the quasi-colonial expansionary tactic of simply buying land instead of fighting over it. On top of all this, they’re discussing the territorial dispute in Kashmir. Personally, I am eagerly awaiting Led Zeppelin’s response to their song creating such international disputes.

Environmental Committee:

Tackling problems related to the environment – the kind of stuff that we realised way too late and now should not stop thinking about. Such as the environmental impacts of Artificial Intelligence, plastic waste in maritime Southeast Asia, the process of Lithium extraction and the global sand shortage. Unfortunately, as we all know, if there's one thing that this big beautiful blue planet lacks, it's sand. Allow me to paint the picture of a scene from your daily life: You wakev up, you step outside, you look around and, suddenly, you think "Egads! They stole the sand!". That's precisely the kind of magnitude of problem we're talking about when we're talking Sand Shortage. As for Lithium, nobody is quite sure why everybody's trying to extract it or how Nirvana have anything to do with the Environmental Commission.

Youth Assemblies:

The CGSMUN Press Team expressed grave remorse for being unable to interview the Youth Assemblies, and we stand with you in facing the problem of YA overpopulation. We promise to knock your socks off with tomorrow's issue. implementation.

GA5:

The delegates of the 5th General Assembly are visionaries. Division-aries, that is! As members of the Budgetary Committee, their daily tasks mainly involve looking at a big pile of golden coins, counting them, and deciding how best to divide them. This year, they're deliberating on how much of the pile they should give to Yugoslavia. They're also financing the International Residual Mechanism for Criminal Tribunals ("Mechanism" or "IRMCT" for short). Since it is common knowledge what the IRMCT is and what it does, I will not be going into any more detail other than reminding you that it currently handles the still-pending appeals regarding the Rwandan and Yugoslavian war crime tribunals. Also they're handling bureaucratic inefficiencies at the UN, such as the delays caused by whistleblowing. We here at the CGSMUN Press assume that the delays of whistleblowing have to do with the administrative nightmare of "Their word against mine" that arises when a whistleblower comes out with the truth. However, such delays may also be caused by the whistle getting jammed.

aka putting duct tape over that little hole on the bottom right corner of the UN vault where they keep all their gold coins, so they stop trickling out and into the pockets of various multimillionaires.

DAYS 1-2

source: marcel negrin

source: marcel negrin

and remember kids,
thank your press members
XOXO

source: marcel negrin

source: marcel negrin

